In recent years, Asia has witnessed a dramatic rise of both natural and man-made disasters, and the locals' knowledge in overcoming such tragedies has grown tremendously.

Tomorrow and on Friday, Chulalongkorn University will be hosting an international conference on "In Search of New Practices: Common Challenges to Human-Ecological Balance in Asia".

The two-day event will feature seminars by representatives from five Asian communities, where the API Fellowships Programme has undertaken inter-disciplinary research, as well as photo exhibitions, art performances, a display and sale of handicrafts, and the premiere screening of Cross Currents: Journey To Asian Environments by Filipino film-maker Nick Deocampo.
